"Liberty is meaningless where the right to utter one's thoughts and opinions has ceased to exist. That, of all rights, is the dread of tyrants. It is the right which they first of all strike down."
—Frederick Douglass

"The most potent weapon against the forces of ignorance is the spread of free education. The poorest effort to give freedom of mind to all the oppressed must be made first, who are not just a handful of men. The masses of the oppressed must be taught to think for themselves and to stand up for their rights. The only way to free the oppressed is to spread the word of freedom."
—Martin Luther King

"There is strength in the olive. There is strength that can be silent — and a gesture of strength can have a different effect on the oppressor than any other. It is the strength of the olive that we need to see in our world. It is the strength of the olive that we need to see in our world. It is the strength of the olive that we need to see in our world."
